PLAN $250,000 ELECTRIC PLANT

The erection of a quarter million dollar electric station to serve this territory was announced this week by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. The plant will be located on the marsh just across the tracks from the plant of the Plant Rubber and Asbestos Co. and will occupy a ten-acre tract just outside of the city limits which was recently purchased by the power company for that purpose.

It is proposed to abandon the present station, according to Manager Walter Kellogg of this district, as the present plant has become entirely inadequate to meet the growing demands of this rapidly developing field. The plant here has been added to until it has become necessary to acquire more land for future expansion.

Work will be started on the plant immediately, and workmen have been this week at work erecting a new line of towers to carry the high voltage lines for the new plant. These will include the highest towers on the peninsula, two of them being 160 feet high. Towers of this great height were necessitated by the fact that the high voltage lines of the company must cross the entrance to Redwood harbor, which is rapidly developing as a port for sea-going navigation.

Woodside Notes

Dr. George B. Somers passed away at his home in Woodside on last Saturday afternoon after an illness of two weeks. Dr. Somers was one of the best known and one of the ablest surgeons in the state of California. He was superintendent of the Stanford Hospital formerly the Lane Hospital in San Francisco, and had for many years been connected with that institution as chief-surgeon. I wish to pay a personal tribute to Dr. Somers. Twenty-two years ago it became necessary for a member of my family to undergo a very serious operation. My knowledge of hospitals was then much less than it is now and my derad of them was much greater. I interviewed many of the leading surgeons of San Francisco regarding the operation. I met several of such authority in their profession that I could have no doubt as to their skill but who seemed so detached and impersonal that they seemed to lack the human touch of which I felt so in need. Others I found in whom the human element seemed strong but of whose technical skill I could not feel assured. In Dr. Somers I found the happy union of authoritative knowledge and technical skill combined combined with a heart so gentle, a sympathy so sincere, a kindliness so simple and genuine that I sought no further. The operation was successfully performed and in all the years since then I have never seen the good doctor without praying that additional blessings might descend upon his kindly soul. If the blessings of those to whom he has been a benefactor can reach up to the place where he has gone he must find in them a reward for a lifetime of service to humanity.

At last Woodside is to be the center of a fire district with a fire chief and a fire-fighting apparatus of its own. In the past we have been dependent upon the courtesy of the Redwood City fire department but while that departments has always responded graciously and nobly to our appeals for help, the distance separating us is so great that often the fire has been beyond control before the truck could arrive. For the last twenty years the matter of a local fire district has been talked of and hoped for but it was not until James V. Neuman took hold of the matter with his accustomed energy and persistence that results were assured. The supervisors established the district some months ago and the commissioners appointed have been working energetically to bring our dreams to a realization. Anton Davis of Redwood City, whose experience in such matter guarantees the quality of his service, has been secured as fire-chief and has taken up his residence here.

A patrol car has already been put in commission and a fire truck of the latest and most approved type has been purchased and is due to arrive within the next week or two. After carefully canvassing the situation, under the advice of the experienced fire fighters about the Bay, the commissioners decided upon a high pressure tank in preference to a chemical wagon. This tank will furnish an inch and a half stream of water under high pressure for ten minutes during which time the local supply, whether from tank or reservoir or swimming pool can be made available.

Throughout the village and wherever the mains of the Bear Gulch Water Co. are large enough to make it possible, fire hydrants are to be installed.

The second part of the oratorio Elijah is to be sent over the air by radio K. G. O. on Sunday evening, Feb. 28th from Trinity Church in San Francisco. Mrs. John D. Gish of Woodside is the soprano soloist, Mrs. E. G. Atkinson, contralto, Harrison Coles, tenor, and Mr. Williams, baritone.

Mrs. Herbert Gallagher entertained a number of her friends at her home here over the week end.

Anto Davis has moved into the Maurice Koop house here, recently vacated by Ludwig von Savoye and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Audiffred will attend the house party to be given by California Commandery at the new Olympic Club country house on Saturday night.

A number of their neighbors gave a welcoming to Professor and Mrs. Carl Anderson andMrs. Anna Anderson on Saturday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Mighall, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. L. Ross, Jr., Mr. St. John, Miss Louise Mahon, Mrs. J. C. Flynn, Mr and Mrs. John D. Gish and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Audiffred.

A pre-view of the motion picture filmed in Woodside the week before was presented at Redwood City on Saturday evening and was viewed with great interest by many who had seen the picture in the making.

REDWOOD CITY KIWANIANS GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO VIEW PACIFIC PORTLAND CEMENT PLANT HERE

The members of the Redwood City Kiwanis club held their regular weekly meeting on Wednesday as the guests of the Pacific Portland Cement Co. at their huge plant here. The cement company had extended an invitation to the club through Harold Powers, manager of the local plant, and on Wednesday an elaborate repast was spread in one of the buildings of the plant and the Kiwanians were royally entertained by the management.

Many of the officials of the company were present and all assisted the manager, Harold Powers, in making the ocassion an enjoyable one for the Kiwanians and their guests.

Following the meal, the Kiwanians were given a tour of the plant under the guidance of Powers and the superintendents of the various departments. This was followed by a trip to tht dredger which was employed in dredging shells and mud from the bottom of the bay at a point near Belmont. Every point of interest was explained by the cement company officials, and many interesting facts were learned by the local Kiwanians.

The cemtnt plant proved to be a much bigger affair than most of the local club men had thought, and they were told that this plant here is one of the largest in the United States. Its product is also said to be superior to that manufactured in plants using other processes . One advantage of the plant here is that its raw materials are all found right at hand in quantities which are almots inexhaustible.

The cement manufactured here is made from shells and clay, both obtained from the bottom of the bay. The shells and clay are taken from the floor of San Francisco Bay—tons of them—by means of a suction dredge, and loaded on to the barges. These barges are then towed to the unloading dock by a tug and their contents unloaded into huge storage pits by a giant traveling crane. This same crane then takes the material from the storage pits and places it in bins from which it is conveyed to the grinding mills by means of screw conveyors. 1000 tons of this material are handled per day. These grinding mills, huge cylinders of steel, are partially filled with seel balls, tons of them, which, tumbling around as the mill revolves, reduce the shells and clay to a fine ground mass. Conveyors take the material from the mills to large silos or slurry tanks as they are called. Here the cotnents of the tanks are analyzed, the proper amount of water added, and the material pumped from one tank to another and into the blending tanks until the exact mixtures desired are obtained. By means of compressed air agitators the contents are so thoroughly mixed that the material becomes absolutely uniform in composition throughout the tank. This soupy mixture, called slurry, is then pumped into the kilns, mammouth cylinders lined with fire-brick slightly tilted and turning slowly, making one complete turn in 90 seconds. Here the material, rolling slowly down the kiln, is first dried, then heated, and as it approaches the lower end, fused into clinker. The heat is obtained by means of oil, finely atomized, and blown in to the kiln under regulated pressure. The heat reaches in the burning zone, a temperature of from 2300 to 3000 degrees Fahrenheit. Over 300 barrels of oil are consumed in each kiln daily.

The clinker drops from the end of the kiln into similar steel cylinders, only smaller. These cylinders have little racks at right angles to their inner surface, which pick up the clinker and, revolving, drop it back again. This contact with the air cools the clinker. From the coolers, the clinker is taken to the storage pile by another conveyor. You notice than manual handling is cut to a minimum. These long conveyors with their various devices for loading and unloading, seem almost human.

One of the great problems of the cement industry is the elimination of dust. Most of this dust from the cement plant comes from the stacks of the kiln. Aside from the ethical reasons for keeping it down—it is awfully messy for the surrounding country—there are economical reasons for conserving it. It is a manufactured product and its value in the course of a year may be reckoned by a considerable sum. The dust chambers at the end of the kiln were designed especially for this plant by its own engineers. The gasses from the kilns which carry the tiny particles of dust, are passed into this chamber and thrown in and out of baffle plates on which streams of water play; the tiny particles becoming wet, stick together in larger particles and are washed into hoppers at the bottom of the chamber and removed. The clean gases go on out through the stacks.

The clinker is taken from the storage pile to another set of similar grinding mills. However, the grinding process is carried on in these mills to a much finer degree. To assist in this grinding, air separators are used. The product of these mills is the finished cement. A little gypsum has been added to the clinker as it has the property of regulating the setting time of the cement and hence makes it easier to handle in the work and to gain strength in the concrete. All through these operations chemists have been sampling, testing and regulating every process. Nothing is left undone to secure the quality and uniformity demanded of the finished product. The clinker is ground until over 80% of the powder (U. S. Government requires 78%) will pass through a screen finer than the finest silk. In one square inch of this screen there are 40,000 holes. The finest silk has only 30,000 and will not hold water. The screen through which this powder—cement—must pass, oddly enough, will hold water. The finished cement is taken from the grinding mill and stored in huge bins. These bins have a capacity of 60,000 barrells. From the bins, it is taken to automatic packing machines where it is sacked in cloth sacks, dropped on a belt and conveyed either to the door of the freight car or through a tunnel underneath the plant to the dock where it can be dropped directly into the hold of ocean going vessels. These sacks, by the way, are tied first and then filled through a hole in the bottom.

The local plant is said to have been successful beyond even the expectations of its builders, and work on a second unit, similar to the present one is expected to start in a very short time. Altogether three units are planned.

WORK ON BAY BRIDGE WILL BE COMPLETED SOON

Work is being rushed on the Dumbarton transbay bridge and will according to present estimates be completed sometime in August. Four of the steel spans are now in place and two more are ready to be placed in position. Construction of approaches on both sides of the bay is also progressing, and it is thought that this work will be completed before the steel superstructure is finished.

FILM FAVORITE OBTAINS MARRIAGE LICENSE HERE

The tip was given out yesterday that Miss Constance Talmadge, the screen beauty, was to secure a marriage license at the county clerk's office. At once that busy place was the cynosure of all eyes. The clerks were on the quivive for the big event. At 11:30 o'clock the beauty accompanied by her sister, Norma and her prospective husband arrived in a limousine. At once there was a rush from all quarters to see the screen artists. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Kneese met the party as it arrived at Cupid's Counter. Miss Talmage gave her age as 25 and Mr. Alastair William MacKintosh acknowledged he was 36. The piercing eyes of fifty people focused on her did not embarrass the bride-to-be in the least, she rather enjoyed the notice she was getting . The young couple were married at the home of Jean St. Cyr that afternoon.

ZONING ORDINANCE UPHELD BY JUDGE BUCK'S DECISION

STATE VETINARY TO TEST COWS HERE

J. J. Garland, county dairy inspector, this week announced that owners of milk cows in San Mateo county will have the opportunity of having their animals given the tuberculin test while Dr. J. H. Brown, Veterinarian of the State Department of Agriculture is in the locality. The state provides for the testing, free of charge, all cows whose milk is being used or sold as raw milk. It is strictly against the law for any milk to be sold raw for home consumption except from tested cows.

"If anyone is buying milk from a neighbor's family cow," said Garland, they should make sure that the cow has passed the tuberculin test within the year." Should the owner of the cow not be able to tell if the cow has been tested, the county milk inspector, J. J. Garland, at Redwood City, should be notified as records are kept of all cows in the county under test.

Any owner of a dairy cow who desires to have Dr. Brown test his animal, should at once write Dr Brown in care of the County Milk Inspector at the Court House, Redwood City. Dr. Brown expects to be in San Mateo county the next two weeks and will test all cows free of charge if notified promptly where such cows can be found.

MRS. LORD DIES IN SAN CARLOS

Mrs. Virginia Lord, who for many years has been making her home on the Phelps estate in San Carlos, passed away last Friday evening as the result of an attack of influenza. Mrs. Lord was the sister of the late Mrs. Timothy Guy Phelps, and since the death of Mrs. Phelps has been in charge of the old Phelps home in San Carlos.

Mrs. Lord was a hospitable and cheerful nature and had endeared herself to the community in which she had spent her last days and leaves many sorrowing friends.

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Lord at the Cypress Lawn chapel by Rev. William Brewer of San Mateo and Rev. A. E. Clay of Redwood City on Monday. The services were attended by many sorrowing friends from this section.

REALTY FIRM REPORTS BIG SALE OF PROPERTY

Lambert & Walter report the greatest activity they have ever experienced in their entire career in the matter of selling lots. Out of 186 lots in Edgewood Park, sixty-four have been sold to San Francisco, Burlingame, Redwood City and Palo Alto people. The foundation for three very fine homes have already been dug, and three more will be ready to start inside of the next ten days, and they advise all Redwood City people who contemplate purchasing there, not to delay too long, but get busy while there is a goodly variety of lots to select from.

Without question Edgewood Park ultimately will be one of the finest residence sections of town, as the ground is high, soil good, improvements of the very latest, winding artistic streets and good homes that will compare very favorably with the best residential sections of the Peninsula, and the time to get in there is right now, not after it is all sold.

SUIT TO REGAIN POSSESSION

Charles Cavalli and Frank Cavalli, through their attorneys, Ross and Ross, have brought an action in the Superior court against C. H. Widemann and Mrs. A. Bonzagni to secure possession of their property at La Honda conducted as a hotel and summer resort. The complaint alleges that the property was leased to defendants for a period of six years, beginning February 1, 1920 and terminating on January 31, 1926 at a monthly rental of $200. Defendants refuse to give up the resort and the court is asked to restore the place to plaintiff together with rents, profits and penalties.

Judge Buck on Tuesday handed down a decision denying a new trial in the case E. W. Magruder against the City of Redwood City in his suit to prevent the city from compelling hi mto remove his lumber yard at Vera avenue and Clinton street.

Some time ago the property owners in the vicinity of the lumber yard petitioned the city trustees to have the lumber yard removed on the ground that it was located in the residential district. The petition was granted and immediately Magruder took the case to the Superior court. Last October Judge Buck gave a decision in favor of the city and declared that Magruder was violating the zoning ordinance. The owner then moved for a recall of the findings.

In the Superior court Magruder was represented by J. J. Bullock and the City by A. Mansfield, who was also one of the defendants. A. J. Stebenne appeared for some 68 property owners in the vicinity of the lumber yard. He worked hard and diligently in the case, preparing all the briefs, giving much time and thought to these able documents which set forth the law in the case. Mr. Stebenne was congratulated by his brother attorneys for his able presentation of the suit and the favorable result in the outcome of his efforts.

Judge Buck's Opinion

The motion to recall the findings in the above case even if proper is denied. There are proper findings upon all material issues.

The motion for a new trial herein presents no new points. The question involved in the motion involved in the motion has been duly considered by this court. The district where this lumber yard is situated is shown by the evidence to be strictly a residential district. There are no business places anywhere near this lumber yard. In this residential district the plaintiff has placed upon land owned by him this lumber yard without obtaining permission to so do. There is not a particle of evidence to show that this lumber yard is of any value to this residential district, but on the contrary all of the evidence shows that it is a detriment to that section of defendant city.

In fact, all that would be necessary to show in this case that it is a nuisance would be to show, as was done, the residential character of this section of defendant city. It is strange that the residents of this district and the City Trustees have so long and patiently passed over the delinquency of the plaintiff. General knowledge would show no necessity for a lumber yard in this particular locality. No one would care to build a house up against a lumber yard and the happiness of the residents there and the future growth of defendant city would outweight the wishes of the plaintiff and the few dollars he may make.

If the plaintiff can prevail in this action then zoning ordinaces are a thing of the past, and a hot dog stand can be placed at the very door of our homes in the most exclusive residential districts. There is no merit in the contention of the plaintiff. Motion for a new trial denied.

MINGINS APPOINTED GRAND JURY STENOGRAPHER

Roy Mingins, the popular and efficient court reporter for the Superior court of San Mateo county, was appointed during the week by Judge Partridge as stenographer for the grand jury now in session. The judge established a precedent in making the appointment for this is the first time in the history of San Francisco that the grand jury was permitted to have a stenographer. Mr. Mingins is a personal friend of U. S. Attorney George Hatfield, who recommended the appointment. Mr. Mingins is a World war veteran who saw service at the front. He was severely wounded at the battle of Argonne and for two years was confined to a government hospital where he suffered much pain. His many friends rejoice that he was recognized by the government he served so and for his great ability as a reporter.

APPRAISERS APPOINTED

Judge Buck appointed inheritance tax appraisers in the following estates this week: H. C. Tuchsen, estate Rose Stein; H. W. Schaberg, estate of Jeremiah O'Keefe; estate of A. Boni, estate of Walter Berk and estate of Allen Louran.

A HIGHWAY PROBLEM

THOSE of us who have to cross the highway on holidays and Sundays are lead to wonder what will be the solution of the traffic problem of the future. While we stand for a time that seems interminable, finally to dash across between cars, we cannot but think of the days when we knew everyone who went by on that same highway; could tell them as far as we could see them by the color of their horses. Occasionally a stranger would pass by on his way to and from the city, then the whole family would turn out to watch him and wonder who he was. And occasionally, and these were rare occasions indeed, a bunch of cyclers would dash along the highway at a tremendous pace, much to the admiration of all beholders.

Now if you have to cross the highway on a Sunday, and no one crosses then who does not have to, you must wait a chance, make a mad dash, and if successful land in a flury on the other side. This is the change that a few years has wrought. If the next twenty years is as productive of traffic on the old highway, as the past two decades have been, we can't imagine how we will cross. But even now with one school on the highway and another planned near it, it would seem that some safer means of crossing should be devised. This is a problem which must be solved before many years. A little thought on it now will not be amiss.

NEW "STAGE FIXINGS" NEEDED

IT is being freely predicted that the tariff is to be made a leading political issue.

What a pity! The tariff should be as free from partisan politics as the tax question.

Our lawmakers, in many instances, seem to be the last persons to realize that the American people are past the kindergarten stage in understanding of questions of public interest.

It is silly to try and fool our people with the political fairy tales of the past.

The nation wants economy in government. It wants tax sanity and it wants a businesslike administration of the tariff question, in the interest of American workmen and American industry.

The tariff is no longer part of the "stage fixings" for either the Democratic or Republican party, any more than is the tax question or economy in government. These are today public questions of equal importance to all the people, and the people are apparently better posted on the situation than many of the lawmakers.

THE DANGER WITHIN

IT has been said that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and the people of this nation, boasting of more liberty, perhaps, than any other national body should be the more vigilant. But with more to lose we appear to be less jealous of our rights, and more inclined to forfeit our privileges as time goes on. This is strikingly shown by the laxity shown in registering and voting. A large and increasing proportion of our population fail to use their right of franchise. So great has become this neglect of the rights of citizenship that organiaztions such as the Masonic order and the American Legion have taken cognizance of the danger and are urging upon their members a greater attention to the duties of citizenship. The former organization is considering adding the following paragraph to their ritual:

"I further promise and swear that I will exercise my right of franchise upon every opportunity; and that I will never fail to vote at an election in the city, county, state or nation unless prevented therefrom by sickness, death or other causes beyond my control."

It was recently stated by a speaker before the Kiwanis Club here that no nation ever failed because of the attacks of Bulshevists or anarchists. The danger lay within, in the body of the citizenry itself. Neglect of public duty, if left unchecked, will bring about national dissolution. To be sure, the saffron hued politician is responsible for a great part of the general distaste for anything connected with elections. So much of an unsavory character, so much that is foul, rotten and disgusting has been associated in the public mind with office seeking, that the very mention of politics creates in many a good citizen a feeling of nausea.

This is unfortunate. That the system by which free government must be supported should become degraded in the public mind is nothing short of a national calamity. But even while we grant that many conditions are not what they might be, it must be remembered that things will not be remedied by good citizens remaining at home while their less sensitive neighbors register their opinions at the polls.

Those who rebel at abuses of self-seeking politicians are the very ones, who if they would use the power which the constitution grants them for that very purpose, could put a stop to the very abuses which they deplore.

We have faith in human nature. We believe that there are more good than bad people in the world. Therefore, it stands to reason that if the bad are in power, it is because the good have neglected their rights. And instead of giving up in disgust citizens who believe that reform is necessary, should register and vote. If they fail in this they should not complain if those of whom they disapprove are elected by citizens who do vote.

LAUGHTER, THEME OF WAR PICTURE AT SEQUOIA THEATRE

Laughter, not slaughter, is the ruling theme of "Behind the Front," Paramount's contribution to the story of the Great War, which comes to the Sequoia Theatre on Broadway next Monday and Tuesday, March 1 and 2.

"Behind the Front" is a comedy of the A. E. F., which features the humor, adventures, and disillusionment of a couple of dumb doughboys, played by that inimitable character team, Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton.

Their roles are taken from life, for every battalion had two such characters, who served to furnish laughs for their buddies and plenty of mixups and troubles for their superiors.

Through the whole story runs a fine thread of romance, with beautiful Mary Brian playing the role of a Red Cross worker in France.

"SONG AND DANCE MAN" PICTURES THEATRE LIFE

All the flashing humor, sentiment and pathos that live behind the scenes of Broadway theatrical life are vividly pictures in Herbert Bremon's production, "The Song and Dance Man," which will be shown at the Sequoia Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, March 3 and 4. Mr. Brenon has taken this original George M. Cohan play, dealing with the pathetic struggles and sacrifices of a typical vaudeville trouper, and transferred it to the screen with a smoothness that bespeaks a thorough familirity with the variety stage.

He has captured all of the glamor, picturesqueness and color that are part and parcel of back-stage life, but he hasn't overlooked the poignantly dramatic, the hopeless and the tragic side of it. We are treated to the spectacle of a brilliant first-night audience, sitting in a magnificent theatre, and watching a gorgeous musical comedy. But we are also shown a rudely constructed, ill-smelling, honky-tonk theatre, with its rough- and-ready, liquor-drinking audience razzing a couple of youthful "hoofers."

Our admiration is won by the lavish surroundings of the Broadway stars, and our sympathies are aroused by the cheap, boarding-house atmosphere of the "smalltimers." It is this ever-present light and shade, this constant, balancing contrast, that gives the photoplay its realistic flavor and unforgettable appeal.

Mr. Brenon has the able assistance of a competent and experienced personnel. Tom Moore is the song-and-dance man to the very life—a comic blustering, pathetic vaudevillian—whose whole-souled generosity is his outstanding virtue, and whose consummate conceit, his most damaging fault. Bessie Love gives a very human, sincere and natural performance as the diminutive actress who wins fame and fortune as a musical comedy star; and Harrison Ford acquits himself with distinction as the wealthy artists for whom Miss Love eventually gives up her career. Others who deserve honorable mention are Norman Trevor, "Bobby" Watson and Josephine Drake.

FLOOD WILL LEAVES BIG SUM TO CHARITY

The will of James L. Flood was filed for probate here Tuesday by his widow, Mrs. Maud Lee Flood, and James E. Walsh, who are the executors and trustees. The hearing will occur March 11th.

The bequests to charity total $125,000 and are $20,000, to The Roman Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco, a corporation sole, for the charitable institutions under its control; $20,000, to the Protestant Episcopal Bishop of San Francisco, a corporation sole, for like purposes; $25,000 to St. Vincent's Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum for Boys; $25,000 to San Francisco Protestant Orphanage Society; $25,000 to The Roman Catholic Asylum of San Francisco; $5,000 to Maria Kip Orphanage; and $5,000 to Pacific Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

All of the estate except Mr. Flood's shares in Flood Realty Company is given in equal parts to the widow, the daughter and the son of the testator. The interest of the son is to be delivered to him when he attains his majority, which will be three and one half years hence.

The shares of Flood Realty Company are given in trust during the lives of Mrs. Flood, the widow, Miss Cora Jane Flood, the sister, Miss Mary Emma Flood, the daughter, and James Flood, the son, who are to receive the income therefrom while they live. At the death of these four persons these shares of the Flood Realty Company go to the grandchildren if there be grandchildren then living, and if there be no grandchildren, to the Regents of the University of California. Mr. Flood owned more than a majority of the shares of Flood Sealty Company. The remainder of the shares are owned by the widow, sister, daughter and son.

The petition for probate does not give the value of the estate, but states it to be in excess of $1,000,000.

The will was executed November 16, 1920 and was witnessed by Garret W. McEnerney, attorney for the estate and Darrell W. Daly.

BIG TRACT OF LAND SOLD FOR REALTY SUBDIVISION

One of the largest real estate deals consummated in this locality for a long time was the sale of the Henderson four hundred acres east of Redwood City and adjoining the Flood estate that was made this week when a wealthy Los Angeles syndicate took over the property for subdivision purposes.

The big tract was purchased twenty-five years ago by Mr. Henderson, then a wealthy banker of Eureka, for $40,000 and the price paid for the holding by the Los Angeles syndicate was said to be something like a half million. The elder Henderson passed away some years ago and the children of the deceased made the sale.

The ranch is well known to all hunters as in days gone by it was the mecca for wild ducks and geese that gathered in the lower stretches to secure fresh water that flowed from numerous artesian wells and to feed on the grain to which vast fields were sown in those days. For many years the ranch has been leased as a dairy to Madera Brothers who furnish the milk supply to Palo Alto. The farm is better known to all old timers as the Nash ranch, the lessee who was a pioneer of San Mateo county who farmed it for many years prior to his demise. The fertile soil produced large crops of grain that was shipped from Redwood City to the San Francisco market. After the harvest in the fall large flocks of wild geese from the north would come to feed on the rich fields, affording splendid sport to the hunter who would stalk the birds killing many of them. The lower end of the tract would be practically covered with widgeon, mallard, teal and other wild ducks. A small growth of willows would screen the hunter so that large bags were taken in a single morning. Nimrods came from far and near for the sport.

Perhaps there are not more than a dozen residents of San Mateo county know where the Town of Henderson is located. It lies in the lower end of the ranch adjoining the marsh Many years ago when the Southern Pacific Railroad Company wanted a right-of-way through the tract for the Dumbarton cut-off, the owner of the big holding gave the right-of-way with the understanding that the company would build a depot, construct side tracks, etc for a town and this the company did and the little depot was named Henderson, hence the town. Wisdom was shown in the transaction on the part of the owner for now a real town or perhaps a city will spring up there very soon. The Dumbarton railroad traverses the entire tract and the proposed Bayshore Highway will also go through the tract. Then, too, there is a movement on foot to establish a free port on the northeast corner of the holding. Here, too, the approach to the Dumbarton bridge starts so that the big holding has everything to commend it to the intending purchaser of industrial sites.

That tract is to be subdivided at once for industrial sites and for homes to be located in the southern end of the property which is beautifully wooded. No doubt a big city will one day cover the tract. When the negotiations were started for the sale of the land some months ago it was thought then that Henry Ford was looking for the purchase of the ideal holding to establish a big manufacturing plant there but this proved only to be a hoax as the Los Angeles concern was the one making overtures for the property.

No doubt some large manufacturing concerns from the east will locate there where rail and water meet.

Within thirty days a big force of men will begin to lay out the tract. It is said $150,000 will be expended in the improvement contemplated and to be finished in three months.

Redwood City is to be benefited by the big sale. It will be a large industrial center, with San Carlos and its contemplated industries lying to the west, the town of Henderson to the east and the big cement plant on the bay shore close by. With the Dumbarton railroad running on the north through the town and the Southern Pacific through the center, the proposed Bayshore Highway skirting the eastern part of the city and the big travel through town from the Dumbarton bridge, Redwood City ought to take on a new birth of progress and boom as it never did before. These facilities are here, let the citizens do their part and tell it to the world. Let's go.

Cleaning Without Odor by the F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded bp our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. t is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening gasoline smell in your clothes.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The local chamber of commerce is planning to make a campaign for new members so that the body will be able to function with efficiency and with effectiveness. A movement is on foot to amalgamate all the civic bodies into one organization for better efficiency and to secure larger results. As it is now one organization is duplicating their work whereas if all would work together under one head, say the chamber of commerce, better results would be secured. In unity there is strength and with one strong organization working in harmony much good could be gotten for the community. Now is the time for all good citizens to come to the aid of the town and boost, shout and yell for the community which is on the eve of tremendous goom caused by the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and the routing of the proposed Bay Shore Highway.

Immediately after Lent the marriage of a prominent young lady of Menlo Park and a business man of San Francisco will take place. The marriage is to be the big event of the after-lenten season. The names of the prospective bride and groom will be made known later.

Mrs. Henrietta Neilsen and her family leave today for her former home in San Mateo. Mrs. Neilsen recently sold her property on the highway to a Palo Alto business man.

Alfred Seale and his associates are palnning to construct a 12-foot concrete sidewalk from the bank building along their property to Ravenswood avenue. The frontage adjoining the avenue belongs to the county, but it is understood Supervisor MacBain will join in doing the contemplated improvements which will be a big benefit to the holding formerly the property of Charles Merrill.

The annual communion of the Knights of Columbus will be held in Menlo Park this year, taking place some time before Easter. The communion breakfast will be held in the Church of Natibity hall. Every year the society makes a pilgrimage to some town in the county for the annual communion. The last one here was in 1918 when many of the soldiers camped here participated.

A competitive drill between the Boy Scouts of Menlo Park and the Boy Scouts of Las Lomita took place at the barracks of the latter on Monday evening. Commissioners Barrer and Thrall of Burlingame were present and awarded the prize to the Menlo Park company which showed much efficiency in the stunts pulled off by the youngsters. The Lomita boys did well for their two months' training demonstrating proficiency and ability in the work. With a little more training the troop will hold its own with any troop in the state. After the drill delightful refreshments were served to the large number of youngsters present.

Robert M. Eyre, a former Atherton young man, was united in marriage to Mrs. Camille Lytton White in Los Angeles last Monday. Mr. Eyre is a well-known society man and golf enthusiast. He was born at Atherton and grew to manhood there. He is the youngest son of the late Colonel Eyre, who was connected as a broker with the Bonanza Kings in the early Comstock days. The bride is a beautiful southern lady and like her husband, a society leader. E. L. Eyre and P. P. Eyre, brothers, were present at the wedding.

Mrs. Fred Worrel entertained the Companion Card Club at her home in Stanford Park Monday evening. It was an enjoyable affair, Mrs. Worrel lending her attractive charms to the occasion. After the game tempting refreshments were served by the hostess. About fifty persons were present.

On Wednesday Mrs. Austice Douglas, wife of Harry J. Douglas, passed to her final rest after a brief illness. Some years ago the Duglasses purchased the Skow attractive home in Menlo Oaks and there lived in happiness and contentment ever since. Mrs. Douglas was beloved by all because of the sweetness of her disposition and generosity. Those who knew her, loved and admired her for her kindness and unselfish consideration of others. Mrs. Douglas was a native of Nebraska, aged 62.

Surviving are the husband; her mother, Mrs. Fordyce Roper; a son, Leland L. Carr; two sisters, Mrs. George E. Landers of Bakersfield and Mrs. George H. Matthews of Los Angeles, and a brother, Ford Roper of Lodi.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Reynard entertained a number of friends at their new home in Palo Alto last Wednesday evening. It was also a surprise shower for Mrs. Margaret Crist who recently announced her engagement to Mr. William Walker of San Mateo.

The Menlo Park Merchants' Association held a large and enthusiastic meeting Tuesday night at which the matter of the merging of all the civic bodies into one organization was discussed. A committee of three members from the Improvement Club, Merchants' Association and the Chamber of Commerce was appointed to confer on the question. Thursday evening the following members met at Laurel Court, the home of Miss Noel: D. E. O'Keefe, W. J. Murray, J. H. Sullivan, Mr. Furnivall. Miss Noel, L. E. Harris, Frank Cain, E. Quaile, Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Roper and J. E. Strong. After a full discussion it was agreed to fuse all organizations into a chamber of commerce. By-laws were adopted which calls for a directorate of 9 members. The dues were fixed at 50 cents a month. A full report will be made to a joint meeting of all three organizations for ratification next Friday night. At the close of the meeting on Thursday night light refreshments were served by Miss Noel in her beautiful and attractive dining room. The proposed chamber of commerce has outlined a big prokram for the betterment of the community.

The appropriation for the new buildings at the base hospital is now available and in the course of a month work on the new structures will begin. It is proposed to erect buildings for two hundred beds and to erect an administration building to cost $250,000. The structures are to be erected in the rear of the grounds.

Mr. Perry has begun the construction of a mile race track on his property fronting on the highway recently bought from Mrs. Charles Merrill. The track will be ready for racing during the summer.

Miss Ruth Bracesco, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bracesco living on Santa Cruz avenue, and who is a senior at Notre Dame Convent at San Jose, had a peculiar experience one night this week while on her way home from school. Before leaving San Jose the young lady purchased a delicious cake for her mother. Lighting from the train at Menlo Park she proceeded homeward. On Santa Cruz avenue she was accousted by a rough looking hobo, with a shaggy beard and with language in keeping with his make-up, demanded food and money. Miss Bracesco, in her excitement, handed over the precious cake and fifty cents besides. Doubtless to say the tramp went on his way rejoicing.

It is understood that the State Railroad Commission has granted the request of the trustees of Palo Alto to extend Alma street over the San Francisquito creek at the big trees and into the Hopkins property. The street is to parallel the Southern Pacific property as far as to where the sewer pipe crosses under the tracks. At this point a subway is to be constructed and the street is to go through the West Coast Nursery lands coming out at the State Highway near the Barbecue. Where the proposed subway is to be built the tracks will have an elevation of perhaps eighteen feet so the construction of the subway will be a small matter. All concerned have agreed upon the plan so that in a short time it will be started. This will relieve the congestion at the dangerous crossing at University avenue. It was first planned to build subways at the Embarcadero, University and at Alma street, but the cost of such improvement, precluded the carrying out of the plan. The contemplated improvement will be a big benefit to Menlo Park. The activity in Stanford Park this week no doubt was caused by this information which has leaked out through certain channels.

Next Thursday afternoon the Native Daughters card party will take place in Duff & Doyle hall. It is the usual monthly game and a big gathering is expected.

The election for three sanitary trustees, two for two years and one for one year, takes place on March 8. Two candidates have filed their petitions. They are Harry Morey and L. H. Cook. An assessor is to be chosen at the same time. J. B. Keyly, who has held the position since the organization of the sanitary district, will be a candidate to succeed himself. According to a recent law the board must consist of five members instead of three, so that the new aggregation will consist of two old members and three new ones. The terms of Charles Merrill and E. W. Hopkins, deceased, have expired.

L. H. Cook has disposed of his electrical business, located in the O'Keefe block to Mr. Platt of Redwood City, who will take possession of the store on March 1st. Mr. Cook after a short vacation will launch into some other activity. He is a Stanford graduate and quite a versatile young man who can make a success of anything he undertakes. He will maintain his home in Stanford Park.

Victor Dupont has osld his property near Santa Cruz avenue to G. Blair, who is to develop the holding.

During the week there were forty-two lots sold in Stanford Park, the purchasers being nearly all Palo Alto people. Houses are to be erected on many of these holdings at once. There is at present a big demand for property in that locality. The good roads recently constructed in the tract has attracted home seekers.
